DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 and 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-3, 5, 6, 8-10, 12-19, 22-27, 29-38 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Goldhaber et al.
4. Goldhaber et al. teaches (independent claims 1 and 25) a rewarding method and a server, the method comprising: (a) designating a predetermined object (Cybercoins 62, col. 16 line 61 and Fig. 11) to each of a plurality of advertising web pages (col. 7 lines 27-29 and 48-50 and col. 8 lines 50-51) having respective URLs; (b) causing a server 106 (col. 16 lines 42-46) to detect that a user of a user terminal unit (consumer computer 104) has selected the object on one of a plurality of the advertising web pages; causing a transfer of cash or credit to the user's account (col. 7 lines 51-54; col. 16 lines 46-52; col. 16 line 65 to col. 17 line 3; and col. 17 lines 33-36 and 44-53), which reads (c) on recording an event log correlating an identifier of the user, an identifier of the selected object, and an event that the object has been selected, (d) determining whether or not the number of objects recorded in the event log exceeds a first predetermined value equal to one, and (e) rewarding the user when the determined result at step (d) is "yes".
5. Goldhaber et al. also teaches at the citations given above claims 2, 3, 5, 6, 8-10, 12-18, 22-24, 26, 27, 29, 30, 32-37 and 41. Goldhaber et al. also teaches claims 19 and 38 (col. 9 lines 62-63).

Art Unit: 3622

6. Claims 4, 7, 11, 20-21, 28 and 39-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Goldhaber et al.
7. Goldhaber et al. does not teach (claims 4, 11 and 28) a banner ad and rewarding by discounting an Internet connection fee. Official notice is taken (MPEP § 2144.03) that banner ads and rewarding by discounting an Internet connection fee were well known at the time of the instant invention. Because it is efficient to use common practices, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add these features to the teachings of Goldhaber et al.
8. Goldhaber et al. does not teach (claims 7, 20-21 and 39-40) storing the user ID and the event log on the user terminal unit. Because this could minimize response time and server storage requirements, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add storing the user ID and the event log on the user terminal unit to the teachings of Goldhaber et al.
